News Release

NEW MASTERS PROGRAMME IN INTERNATIONAL BANKING AND FINANCE

The Isle of Man International Business School announces the addition of an exciting new course to its suite of programmes, which offers a choice of two routes to achieving a Masters degree in International Banking and Finance.

The new MA qualification - which, like all our academic programmes, is accredited and awarded by Liverpool John Moores University - offers a challenging course that prepares you for an advanced career in financial services management - including marketing, product development, compliance and regulation. You will gain an understanding of how the financial services sector functions - either to serve your clients better, or to boost your own career prospects.

The programme will run alongside the existing MSc in International Banking and Finance, which is aimed at preparing you for career advancement in the fields related to financial analysis, fund and portfolio management, corporate banking, corporate treasury management, asset and derivatives valuation, risk management and regulation.

If you have a university degree, a professional qualification or 5 years relevant managerial experience, and you are considering your personal and professional development in the field of banking and finance, why not contact our enquiries team on 693709 to talk through your options? There is limited availability for the courses, which start in September 2009, so call us soon to register your interest!
