NEWS RELEASE – 24.11.05

ICSA Professional Programme may be introduced at The IBS

Students who wish to follow the 'ICSA Professional Programme' may soon be able to complete the programme by attending The International Business School. The 'Manx Centre for Management Development' (a collaboration between The IBS and the Isle of Man College) is undertaking a market survey to establish the demand for the programme which leads to qualification as a Chartered Secretary and, with relevant work experience, the coveted membership of the Institute of Chartered Secretaries and Administrators (ICSA)

MCMD has identified a need to increase the on Island provision of the ICSA qualifications at all levels. Currently many people study by distance learning or travel off Island for intensive revision courses which of course means that the opportunities for networking are limited and that the all important peer support when you are studying is lost.

By applying to work more closely with the ICSA, MCMD believes that many more Manx employees will be able to obtain these prestigious qualifications on Island and in the supportive atmosphere of The Nunnery (home of the IBS)

Tiffany Jacobsen, Head of Sales and Marketing at The IBS said;

"We hope to be able to offer revision sessions from spring 2006 and tuition from September 2006, however It is vital that people complete our demand survey. There needs to be adequate demand to make it viable for us to go ahead. We intend to send the survey out to all corporate service providers as well as via the local ICSA Branch however there may be individuals out there who are interested in becoming qualified. If this is you then please get in touch."

The demand survey can be obtained by contacting Tiffany Jacobsen on 693720 or by emailing t.jacobsen@ibs.ac.im

Further information about ICSA can be found at www.icsa.org.uk or from the local ICSA Chairman by contacting tracy.reeder@manx.net
